VITAL STATISTICS.

THE REGISTRAR GENERAL TO THE HONORABLE THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,

TRANSMITTING ABSTRACTS OF

MARRIAGES, BIRTHS, AND DEATHS,

FOR THE YEAR 1872.

Registrar General's Department,
Sydney, 14 July, 1873.

SIR,

I have the honor to transmit herewith Abstracts of Marriages, Births, and Deaths, registered in my department during the year 1872.

I now proceed to offer a few observations on the most noteworthy facts which these Returns disclose.

The progress which registration has made during the year, by the addition to names to the Registers, is shown by the fact that the increase amounts to 35,568, making the total number of 499,824 names on the records. Progress of registration.

Of the new names obtained during the year we find that the Marriage Registers contribute 7,850, which is less than the year 1871 by 56.

The number of Births registered was 20,250, which is an increase of 107 on the previous year; and the Deaths recorded numbered 7,468, which is an increase of 1,061 on the previous year.

The total estimated population on 31st December, 1872, was 539,190 souls, consisting of 295,680 males, and 243,510 females, being a difference in favour of the males of 52,170. The increase to the population during the year was 20,027 persons, or 3·85 per cent. The proportion of males to every 1,000 was 548, and of the females 452. Population.

The arrivals by sea for the year numbered 24,107, and of departures by the same means 16,881, leaving a balance in favour of the Colony of 7,226 persons. Immigration and emigration.

According to the estimated population on 30 June, 1872, it is seen that the percentage of Marriages was 0·74, of Births 3·83, and of Deaths 1·41; both Marriages and Births showing a slight decrease as compared with the previous year, while Deaths have increased 0·16 per cent. Marriage, birth and death rate.

The

The following Table will be found to contain a general statement of the number of Marriages, Births, and Deaths registered during each quarter of the year in Sydney, Suburbs, and Country Districts respectively.

From this return it appears that the number of Marriages for the year was 3,925, which is a decrease on the previous year of 28.

The average of the preceding five years was 3,752, so that the number of Marriages celebrated in 1872 was in excess of this average by 173. The number of Marriages for the year in each of the following divisions was as follows :—

Sydney	1,055	or	26·88
Suburbs	286	„	7·29
Country	2,584	„	65·83
Total	3,925	„	100·00

As compared with the previous year, Marriages in Sydney have fallen away by 3·88 per cent., while the Suburbs and Country Districts show an increase of 1·87 per cent. and 2·01 per cent. respectively.

In proportion to population, Marriages in Sydney were 1·32 per cent., Suburbs 0·45 per cent., and Country 0·67 per cent.

The rate per 1,000 of Marriages to the population of the Colony was 7·44. By the following figures it will be seen that the Marriage rate has been gradually decreasing for the last five years :—

The number of Marriages celebrated by Registrars was for Sydney 2, Suburbs 7, and Country 182.

The next Table discloses the number of each denomination who signed their names, or affixed their marks to the Marriage Register :—

	No. of Marriages.	Full Signatures.	Marks.	Marks per cent.

			9,471	9,029	9,148	8,873	36,521

On looking through this return it will be noticed that Marriages celebrated in Sydney have, in proportion to population, been decreasing year by year, with one exception only, for the last ten years. In the Suburbs the proportion appears to be more even. The Country Districts show a higher proportion for the first four years of the decade than the last six years. Taking the Colony as a whole, the ratio of the first five years was 3.74 higher than the remainder of the decade.

BIRTHS.

BIRTHS.

The total number of Births registered in the Colony during the year amounted to 20,250, consisting of 10,276 males, and 9,974 females, the former being 302 in excess of the latter. As compared with the previous year, there is a decrease of 50 males, and an increase of 157 females, or a total increase of 107.

The proportion which the number of Births of both sexes bear to each other in Sydney, Suburbs, and Country Districts, is as follows:—

	Males.	Females.	Total.	Males Per cent.	Females Per cent.
Sydney	1,487	1,392	2,879 =	7.34	6.87
Suburbs	1,286	1,210	2,436 =	6.05	5.98
Country Districts	7,563	7,372	14,935 =	37.35	36.41
	10,276	9,974	20,250 =	50.74	49.26

The male Births were therefore only 1.48 per cent. in excess of the female, which is a reduction of a little more than 2 per cent. on the year 1871.

The proportion of the Births of males and females in each of the above divisions was—

	Males.	Females.
Sydney	51.71	48.35
Suburbs	50.33	49.67
Country	50.64	49.36

The number of Births compared with those of the year 1871 is seen by the following figures:—

	1871.	1872.	Increase.	Decrease.	Comparison with 1871.
Sydney	2,980	2,879	101
Suburbs	2,601	2,436	165
Country	14,562	14,935	373
Total.....	20,143	20,250	.....	.....

The ratio of Births to every 1,000 of the population for the past six years, according to the estimated population at the middle of each year, is as follows:—

1867.	1868.	1869.	1870.	1871.	1872.
41.73	40.50	40.46	39.80	39.57	38.37

There has therefore been a gradual decrease of Births for each year during the period abovenamed, and the Births registered in 1872 were below the mean of the preceding five years by 2.04.

The next table is that which gives a Decennial Return of the Births registered in each quarter of the year in Sydney, Suburbs, and Country, with the proportion per 1,000 of population.

It will be seen that the number of these births was 816 for the year, being 415 males and 401 females, which is an increase of 34 on the previous year.

The ratio to total registered births is a little over 4 per cent., and the proportion per 1,000 of population is 1'52.

The last return on this portion of my Report is that which shows the number of Triplets and Twins which have been registered from the year 1863 to the close of the year 1872.

DEATHS.

The number of Deaths recorded during the year was 7,468, of which 4,442 were males and 3,026 females, showing a large balance in favour of the latter ; and even after deducting the excess of male and female Births, still gives the difference of 1,114 to the females. Increase of mortality.

The rate per cent. on estimated population which in 1871 was 1·25, increased in 1872 to 1·41 ; so that the mortality of the year was 0·16 per cent. in excess of the previous year.

The number of Births recorded in Sydney, Suburbs, and Country Districts respectively, with the rate per cent., was—

	Males.	Females.	Total.	Per centage to total Deaths.
Sydney.....	1,002	808	1,810	24·23
Suburbs	499	416	915	12·25
Country	2,941	1,802	4,743	63·52
Total	4,442	3,026	7,468	100·00

In each of the above divisions, the Deaths of the year as compared with 1871, were as follows :— Comparison with 1871.

	1871.	1872.	Increase.
Sydney	1,583	1,810	227
Suburbs	883	915	32
Country	3,941	4,743	802
Total	6,407	7,468	1,061

The proportion of Deaths to total deaths in every 1,000 for the last six years will be—

1867.	1868.	1869.	1870.	1871.	1872.
19·66	15·83	14·06	13·28	12·58	14·15

The Death rate therefore, which gradually decreased year by year from 1867, was in 1872 a little higher than that recorded in the year 1869.

The proportion of 1872 was 1·57 higher than in 1871, and 0·93 lower than the mean of the five previous years.

The rate per 1,000 for the year 1872 was for Sydney 22·69, Suburbs 14·48, and Country Districts 12·32.

The mortality in the City was therefore higher than the Suburbs and Country by 8·21 and 10·37 respectively, while the Country was lower than the Suburbs by 2·16. As compared with 1871, these rates are higher both in Sydney and Country Districts, but lower in the Suburbs.

The Table which now follows is a Decennial Return of Deaths recorded in Sydney, Suburbs, and Country respectively.

The Decennial Return which now follows, exhibits the number of deaths of children under 5 years of age, and the proportion which these deaths bear to the total number of deaths in Sydney, Suburbs, and Country Districts. Infantile mortality.

In 1871 the proportion of mortality among infants was 42·21 to total deaths ; in 1872 it was 42·91.

As compared with 1871, the percentage of these deaths was lower in the City and Suburbs by 1·91 and 0·18 respectively, and higher in the Country Districts by 2·32.

The mean of deaths under 5 years for the decade was in Sydney 46·82, Suburbs 57·06, and Country 40·99.

The mean for the Colony was 44·56.

* Waterloo was not created a separate Registry District till January, 1872; and Randwick a Sub-district of Paddington in September, 1872.

The mortality of each of the Wards of Sydney under and over 5 years of age, for the year 1872, with the proportion per cent. to population, was as follows :—

* Exclusive of the Islands in Port Jackson.

It must be remembered that the high percentage of mortality in Bourke Ward is accounted for by the fact that the Infirmary is situate in this ward. Deducting the deaths which occurred in this establishment, the percentage will be 2'73. Comparing the total deaths in the City, we find that the percentage was 2'43, as against 2'12 in 1871, both being calculated on the Census of 1871. Taking the estimated population of Sydney for 1872, there is a slight difference in the percentage in favour of 1871.

The following figures will show the population of the City and Suburbs, also the number of births registered for the year 1872, with the deaths under 5 years of age, and the total deaths :—

Under the first class, Zymotic diseases, it will be seen that the percentage to total deaths is 2'65 higher than the preceding year. The principal increase is to be observed under Order 1—Miasmatic Diseases, which rose from 16'58 to 19'09. Constitutional and Developmental show but a slight difference on the year 1871, while there is a decrease of 2'65 under the class called Local.

There is also a difference in deaths from violence, from 9'48 to 8'80.

The percentage of deaths registered from Scarlatina, Diphtheria, Dysentery, Fevers, &c., to the total number of Deaths in each of the divisions of City, Suburbs, and Country, was 19'06, 21'64, and 18'59 respectively.

These complaints therefore, were more fatal in the Suburbs than either the City or Country.

The next table (L) shows the mean number of Deaths in Sydney, in each month, for the last ten years, and is also a Meteorological Abstract for the same period.
